

Thursday - December 19, 2013

Celebrating "Las Posadas" with GPCP

Each year GPCP celebrates Los Posadas, a special holiday to honor another culture. Las Posadas is a tradition from Mexico. The school's celebration includes a procession throughout the neighborhood, the breaking of a piñata and singing the traditional holiday Spanish songs: "Feliz Navidad," "Cascabel," and "Brilla, brilla estrellita"

Our first stop was Suzanne's house to sing our carols and pick up our CSA two blocks away. Our second stop was her neighbor who lived next door. We sang to her through the window. Our third stop was Nolan's house across from the playground. Our fourth and final stop was the playground to break the pinata!

